Up Front

A Great Notion—Home Box Office lights its second birthday candle this month.

It was on Nov. 8, 1972, that HBO transmitted its first programs to a few original subscribers in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., thus preceding by a short while various other cable pay TV enterprises that have begun operating around the nation.

That opening night's fare was a New York Rangers-Vancouver Canucks hockey game from Madison Square Garden and a film prophetically entitled Sometimes a Great Notion—with Paul Newman, Henry Fonda and Lee Remick.

Programming in those days consisted of one sports event and one motion picture, or a movie double bill, nightly. During November, other films were: Play Misty for Me, The Railway Children, Red Sky at Morning and The Andromeda Strain. Other sports events were New York Knicks basketball, roller derby, wrestling and World Hockey League (remember the New York Raiders?)

Two years later, the HBO network serves approximately 30,000 subscribers in 40 or more cable communities in four states. By the end of this month, more than 150 films and some 400 sporting events will have been shown, and children's and other special interest programming has been added.

This Nov. 8, we'll usher in our third year with two HBO premieres of

*S*P*Y*S* and Dirty Mary, Crazy Larry. All told, it's a bonanza month, as you'll see on our Highlights page, for films (over 30 titles), sports and specials.

Encore Performances—Subscribers frequently want to know the purpose of multiple performances of films on HBO and also why most are brought back for Encore Performances in later months. Both policies are followed for the convenience of viewers. By showing the same film on several different days at different times, subscribers can have a choice of viewing opportunities that will not conflict with other TV programs they want to see or with other activities.

Similarly, Encore Performances provide additional viewing opportunities to subscribers who may have joined the HBO network after the premiere showings were completed, may have missed a film previously—or simply want to see it again.

Martha Keeps Busy—Martha Lewis Lambert, who conducts HBO's original children's program, "Martha's Attic", will take on an additional chore during November when she serves as hostess for HBO's nightly programming and its daytime previews.

Special Programs... What's Your Pleasure?

Rock music on both sides of the Atlantic comes up this month for an airing on Home Box Office.

CELEBRATION! is an hour-long pop magazine headlining Rod Stewart & Faces in a London presentation of Cindy, Twisting in the Night and Maggie Mae; Don McLean in New York doing American Pie and Did You Know (from his new album "Home-ward Brother"); from Sweden, the Eurovision prize-winning group, Abba, with Waterloo, and also Cat Stevens, Pink Floyd, how newcomer Suze Quatro and others.

Children's Portions—It will be a big month for younger viewers. In addition to Huckleberry Finn and an Encore Performance of Tom Sawyer, HBO will be presenting five new Martha's Attic episodes and repeats of some beloved Children's Classics. Martha's Attic will deal with sea life and home aquariums (Did You See the Sea?) and a humorous but realistic look at what happens when you try to be something you're not ("It's Best to Be Me"). Programs like these which combine entertainment, crafts and projects, with a healthy dose of common sense, have won enthusiastic approval of public interest groups such as Action for Children's Television (ACT) and the backing of major institutions such as New York University.

Martha Lewis Lambert wants the programs to be the focus of real two-way communication between herself and HBO viewers (parents, too). Martha's past programs have included stories written and drawn by youngsters in the HBO audience, and she has had dozens of suggestions for future programs. In response to one mother's suggestion, Martha has prepared instructions for use with several of her craft projects, and these may be obtained without charge by sending in the coupon on this page.

Cooks, chefs or Water-Boilers—will find a space on the coupon, too, for requesting a copy of recipes from Parsley, Sage, Jani and Love, the continuing cooking series. Guests this month include Cincinnati Reds catcher Johnny Bench and outfielder Pete Rose, one of the best known of women's libbers, Gloria Steinem and actor Robert Alda.

Also continuing in November is the important "Consumer Experience" series conducted by University of Wisconsin professors David Ward and Mary Ellen Kolka.

Previews

THE WAY WE WERE

Barbra Streisand was Academy Award nominee for role of Jewish political activist who jeopardizes her marriage and husband's writing career by radical political involvement in post World War II years. Superb Robert Redford performance as husband torn between love and career. Excellent nostalgia film. Columbia Pictures. Rated PG. (Running time: 110 minutes)

"...thoroughly enjoyable expedition into nostalgia should prove irresistible."
New York Magazine

s*p*y*s

Spoof of CIA follows misadventures of two screwball agents stationed in Paris. Elliott Gould and Donald Sutherland star as wacky pair marked for murder by Russians, Chinese and their own intelligence agency and attempting to turn situation to their advantage. Twentieth Century-Fox. Rated PG. (Running time: 90 minutes)

"Fast-moving, diverting espionage farce..."
Washington Post

DIRTY MARY CRAZY LARRY

After stealing $150,000 from supermarket, Peter Fonda and Adam Roarke embark on wild car chase over country roads with law in hot pursuit. Susan George is Fonda's girl friend along for the joy ride. Twentieth Century-Fox. Rated PG. (Running time: 103 minutes)

"Mark Twain's Huckleberry Finn"

Mark Twain's beloved story set to music in lavish, rather slowly-paced companion piece to Tom Sawyer (which will be seen on ENCORE PERFORMANCE Nov. 16). Jeff East is Huck, Paul Winfield is Jim and Harvey Korman and David Wayne a pair of outrageously irresistible rouges. Reader's Digest/United Artists. Rated G. (Running time: 118 minutes)

"BUSTING"

Tough, contemporary cop drama with Elliott Gould and Robert Blake as wise-cracking Los Angeles vice squad detectives after "Mr. Big" but hindered by police higher-ups. United Artists. Rated R. (Running time: 92 minutes)

"If you don't take it seriously, you'll be entertained by this incredible caper."
New York Magazine

Daisy Miller

Adapted from Henry James late 19th Century novel. Cybill Shepherd stars as spoiled American heiress, whose unorthodox behavior sets European tongues wagging. Cloris Leachman co-stars as Daisy's permissive mother. Produced and directed by Peter Bogdanovich. Paramount. Rated R. (Running time: 91 minutes)

"Daisy Miller is a delight."
The Christian Science Monitor

What They Say About Pay TV (Part II)

Last month, we printed a few comments from distinguished observers who support the concept of cable pay TV. Here's what a sampling of HBO viewers have to say about the service:

We have been subscribers to Home Box Office since it originated and enjoy it greatly."

Michael Faiella, Hicksville, N.Y.

"Hi! I am writing this letter to commend you on the great movies you're showing."

P. Mackechnie, Endicott, N.Y.

"Recently, I visited my father-in-law in Hazleton, Pa., and was able to view the selections on Home Box Office. I really enjoyed the movies and my husband liked the sports events. Why don't we have it in the Poughkeepsie area?"

Joan Moran, Wappingers Falls, N.Y.

(Wappingers Falls expects to begin HBO service soon)

"Recently, we had the occasion to visit friends of ours in Allentown, Pa. as well as Ithaca, N.Y. While there, we had the opportunity of seeing cable TV in performance. I believe the 'city fathers' should stop dragging their feet on the issue of cable TV . . . The present high cost of attending movies . . . makes it imperative that we get cable TV in Rochester. I believe the service offered in the above named areas is Home Box Office and it is excellent from what I saw."

Norman A. Schwartz, Rochester, N.Y.
